Decades of Service Means More Practical Expertise.

It was 1929 when Lester Henry founded the firm that is now Henry & Peters, P.C. On September 5, 1930, the Daisy Bradford No. 3 flowed oil and gas near Overton, Texas. From that time forward, rooted in what was then the largest oilfield in the world, Henry & Peters, P.C., has always maintained strong connections with the oil and gas industry.

Established in Oil & Gas

With offices in Tyler, Longview, and Frisco, our expertise has been built on practical understanding gained from decades of serving exploration and service companies, working closely with their investors and owners.

There have been dramatic changes the past 90 years – for East Texas and Henry & Peters, P.C., as well as for the oil and gas industry as a whole – but our firm has remained dedicated to the industry and its companies. This business has been key to the economic success of this region, and Henry & Peters, P.C. would not be what it is today without the opportunities the oil and gas industry has provided.

Based in East Texas, Henry & Peters, P.C. serves clients across Texas and neighboring states. Our oil and gas clients come from throughout the industry – upstream, midstream, downstream – and we employ more than 100 people to serve them, a roster built on professional degrees and practical experience. Many staffers began their careers with national accounting firms but developed “real expertise” working together with the exceptional clients at Henry & Peters, P.C.
